

I've been told to avoid bear hand contact.

© 2015 StateFoodSafety.com™

FOOD SAFETY REMINDER: Frequent and thorough handwashing is a food worker's best defense against the spread of foodborne illness. Wash hands before handling food, after handling raw meat, when switching tasks, and after performing any activity that could contaminate hands.

