

FOOD SAFETY REMINDER: The only way to be sure you've reached proper cooking temperatures is to use a thermometer. Keep thermometers calibrated and always take the internal temperature of the food item, since food heats more slowly at its center.

